He who has
health, has hope;
and he who
has hope,
has everything.

—A Proverb

There are countless pivotal moments throughout life from adolescence and young adulthood to maturity. There is a decision point at every juncture. Will we make healthy, life-affirming choices or those that may lead to behavioral health disease and addiction? Unfortunately, we are seeing a dramatic rise in depression, Type II diabetes, eating disorders and drug and alcohol addiction—across all demographic groups. Such disease takes a human toll on individuals, their families and, in fact, the entire community.

Wellness is a connection of paths,
knowledge and action.

— Joshua Welch
